Lossless Mp3 Cutter Joiner 6.1.9 Serial Number.Delhi v Sahara Delhi v Sahara is a case concerning jurisdiction in the United Nations. A hearing was held in the United Nations General Assembly on 22 March 1998. Background The legal dispute The case deals with the location of the seat of the International Criminal Court in The Hague. The seat of the Court was set in The Hague following the Rome Statute, which came into force in 2002. The Rome Statute determined that the Court would establish its seat in the country of the two state parties to the Rome Statute. At the time, the seat of the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia (ICTY) was in The Hague. The choice of the seat of the International Criminal Court was left to the states parties to the Rome Statute. On 8 July 1997, the government of India stated that it would not be a state party to the Rome Statute. As a result, the Court was not empowered to hold any trials involving Indian citizens. As a result of this decision, the Court exercised its powers to try the issue within itself. The first hearing was held in the House of Lords in London, England, on 16 October 1998. The Court stated that it was required to establish its seat in a state that was party to the Rome Statute. The government of India, was the only government party to the Rome Statute. The Court stated that the solution was to establish the seat of the Court in a third country.
